

March 31, 2017

Noah Perch-Ahern Joins Board of Directors of TreePeople

Related Attorney(s): Noah Perch-Ahern

Related Practice(s): Environmental & Energy

Glaser Weil is pleased to announce that Environmental & Energy Partner Noah Perch-Ahern has joined the Board of Directors of TreePeople.

TreePeople, which manages the iconic TreePeople park off of Mullholland Drive, focuses on urban forestry, including bringing tree canopy to depleted landscapes and disadvantaged communities. TreePeople also works on mountain forestry, provides educational opportunities for elementary students relating to ecology, and participates in policy work relating to the connection between forestry and water/climate resiliency.

“Being appointed to TreePeople’s Board of Directors is both personally and professionally satisfying. It is an honor to join this ambitious team of dedicated and talented individuals that is focused on a goal of universal appeal: connecting people to the outdoors and creating resilient, forested landscapes within existing urban communities.”

Mr. Perch-Ahern maintains a broad environmental and energy practice, and holds leadership positions within a number of organizations and business associations.