Glaser Weil Partner Aaron Allan was recently interviewed by Lawyer Monthly Magazine for its “Expert Insight” feature on Energy, Environment and the Law in California.

Mr. Allan drew from more than two decades of experience litigating significant environmental and insurance coverage cases to provide his assessment on changes in insurance coverage in relation to energy law amid increasing environmental concerns. He also speculated on rumored upcoming changes that may affect companies in the energy and insurance sectors.

With case law affecting insurance coverage constantly evolving, Mr. Allan emphasizes the importance of carefully reading every term and condition of a policy and staying up to date on new decisions. He also outlines what he finds to be crucial factors to address during environmental due diligence.
