

LITIGATION

Business Litigation

At Glaser Weil, our mission in Business Litigation is to provide far more than high-quality legal counsel. That is a given. What differentiates the Firm is our commitment to being a vital, compelling force in our clients' challenges, successes and business objectives.

Our clients know this, and rely on our knowledge, creativity and legal skills to trust that we will never lose sight of their best interests. Our Business Litigation group has developed an impressive roster of diverse business clients that have brought to the Firm a host of complex, extraordinary and groundbreaking cases.

Examples of our vast business litigation experience includes:

- Highly complex commercial and business litigation
- Entertainment law disputes
- Employment litigation
- Defamation and other First Amendment issues
- Partnership disputes
- Insurance
- Parental rights
- Real estate
- Class actions
- Products liability
- Securities

There is no question that sophisticated business matters such as these require resourceful, innovative and aggressive counsel. However, our clients understand that, even under the most highly charged circumstances, our litigators remain grounded and sensitive to the dynamics at hand. One thing is clear: Our overriding concern and motivating force at all times is to achieve the maximum outcome for our business clients.